18 LOCOMOTIVES BURN IN JERSEY CITY FIRE
JERSEY CITY, Sept. 12.—With great rapidity, fire yesterday afternoon spread through the roundhouse of the Erie railroad, Jersey City, destroying eighteen passenger engines. Firemen, responding to three alarms, prevented the flames from spreading to adjoining structures. The loss was estimated at $350,000. There were fifteen men at work on the engines and the flames, eating their way along the oil-soaked beams and floors, caused the men to hustle out without their street clothing.

CHESTER BRIDGE COLLAPSE LAID TO RUSTY PLATE

Span Where 25 Lost Lives Declared Unsafe Year Ago, Inspector Says.

By International News Service.
CHESTER, Pa., Sept. 12.—Inquiry into the bridge catastrophe here in which twenty-five lives were lost was commenced today by county authorities.
J. H. Devlin, a building inspector of Chester, said he had declared the bridge unsafe a year ago.
H. M. Quimby, chief engineer of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company, made an inspection of the bridge and declares the steel arm supporting the footwalk, which gave way, was supported by a badly rusted wrought iron gusset plate. The plate, he avers, was of faulty construction.
It had been broken to half its depth by a progressive break.
Fruit stains on linen should be smothered with glycerine and left for an hour. They will then readily wash out.

STATION SPARROWS ARE THE WISEST OF BIRDS, SAYS FAY KING

Feed on Juicy Bugs from Engines, Cake, Candy and Ice Water.

By FAY KING.
NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—If there's anything smarter than a station sparrow, I wanna know it!
Have you ever seen those little feathered vags lined waiting for No. 17 to roll in and before the engineer can bring the train to a stop the whole flock of little cusses are lined up on the engine looking for juicy bugs and butterfies or beetles and what-nots in the way of what a bird considers a banquet?
I tell you, you can't beat 'em! There they are perched on the black signal or listening on the rail to get an idea of how near

New York Physician Says Weak, Thin, Nervous Folks Need Bitro-Phosphate

It's worth your while to read what Dr. J. D. Harrigan, a New York specialist, has to say about the nerve and brain cells. He writes: "Let those who are weak, thin, nervous, anemic or run-down take natural Bitro-Phosphate. It will soon see some astonishing results in the increase of nerve energy and strength of body and mind. Bitro-Phosphate is a pure organic phosphate such as food which must be taken to increase weight and create abundant nerve force. Peoples Drug Stores sell Bitro-Phosphate under a guarantee of satisfaction or money back."

Hair Curling Troubles Are Over—Read This!

Have you heard about the newest way to keep the hair in curl? If not, by all means, cut out these simple directions and try this wonderful method. Precure a new tooth brush and a few ounces of plain liquid silmerine from your druggist. Apply the liquid of the liquid with the brush to moisten the hair from root to tip just before doing it up. You will be quite astonished when you find you have such lovely waves and curls—they appear altogether natural, instead of having been artificially increased. Best of all, the waves will last very much longer than it would otherwise.
Your hair, of course, will have more "body" and fluffiness than where the drying, singeing, waving iron is used. It will appear glossier and livelier, for silmerine has proved equally desirable as a dressing for the hair. You'll find it pleasant to use, and it will leave no sticky, greasy or streaky trace.

the fast mail or the local are and then they ring the dinner bell and the whole flock form a flank and swoop down on the engine that has gathered nice meaty bugs as it roared through the country.
At Omaha the other day I looked out of the train window and watched the little winged way-farers and figured that they are pretty wise birds to take up their residence in an up-to-date station like that, where they feed on the fat of the land, have ice water from the carts loaded with ice for the diner and can live on cake and candy dropped from the trains.
They hop around those great big steaming engines without the least fear in the world, chirping away, and almost perched on the big bell as it clangs to clear the way.
Shrieks and grating steam exhausts and grindings that shiver the spines of the average human being have seemingly no effect upon these little train tramps.
They hop on the rails and along the ties until you think they will be crushed, but they just manage to keep about two hops ahead of fatality.
And they are lazy little fellows, too. They have discovered that by perching on the baggage trucks they need not exert themselves flying down to meet the diner.
They go right into the stock cars and eat among the cattle and hogs, without the least fear in the world. They perch on their backs.
The sparrow has also taken up apartments in smart filling stations as the front of the automobile is almost as good a pantry as the front of an engine.
While the cross-country tourist is filling his machine the sparrow is filling his craw.
You don't have to take my word for it, but just look out of the window the next time the train comes next track pulls into the station and watch the onslaught of the sparrows!

ROYAL AUSTRIAN ESTATE SOLD TO U. S. SYNDICATE

Fight Will Be Made Before International Court to Have Properties Released.

PARIS, Sept. 12.—Samuel Untermyer with Charles H. Sabin, J. Leonard Replogle, Frank A. Munsey, Thomas J. Felder, William R. Hennald, and Louis Chevillon for the purchase at $200,000,000 of the entire estate of Archduke Frederick of Austria, formerly commander-in-chief of the Austrian army.

They will contest confiscation of the properties in all European countries on the ground that the archduke was not the enemy of the countries in which these properties were situated.
The syndicate was formed after a formal conference with Archduke and Archduchess Frederick, the Archduke Albrecht, son of Archduchess Isabella; the latter's wife, who is the Princess Croy, and six other daughters of the archducal family.

Prior to the war the archduke was considered one of the richest landowners in Europe. His holdings were distributed throughout Austria-Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia, Poland, Rumania, and Italy.
In the summer of 1919 the archduke met Thomas Felder in Switzerland and put up the proposition, whereby a corporation was formed. In October, 1919, this took over the administration of the estate. Felder then went to America and interested the above-named capitalists in the enterprise.
As the result of this, the archduke relinquished all rights for $200,000,000 to the new corporation, which will carry the fight to the international court of the League of Nations in an effort to prove the confiscation and sequestration illegal.

PRIZE FARM, WYOMING, WON BY FORMER NURSE

OMAHA, Sept. 12.—Miss Jennie B. Fuller, of Gresham, Neb., an ex-nurse in the army, won the prize farm at the Goshen Hole land drawing for ex-service men and women at Torrington, Wyo. Several other former nurses also won farms.

About 5,000 applications were filed, but fifty service men reached Torrington too late to file applications. The hundreds of men gathered on the court house lawn cheered lustily as the names of lucky girl applicants were read. The land is recently opened and irrigable. It was set apart by the Government for former service men and women.

A sugar beet factory is to be erected near Torrington and newspaper plants and a postoffice are already being completed. One of the principal crops of the region will be corn, it is said.
